Continuing thru August 31st 2016

(This show has now been replaced but the paintings are available in the studio!)

During a trip back to Ontario, Canada in May 2003, I was just blown away by the colours and shapes of the land patterns while driving through the Missouri Valley in Iowa. I was inspired to create these abstracted land pattern paintings.

© "Land Pattern Series #5" 30 x 40 Oil/Canvas

This was one of my all-time favourites to paint! Loved this popular series.
You can see the whole series here: <http://allenfineart.com/abstracted.shtml>

© Land Pattern Series #14 12 x 36 Oil/Canvas

This was a trio of paintings with the first the more "realistic" version, the second one was with the "colour pushed" and the third, the abstracted version!
It is fun to see them together: <http://allenfineart.com/abstracted.shtml>

©Bear Creek Inspiration (Diptych) 30 x 60 Diptych Oil/canvas

I painted En Plein Air at Bear Creek one morning and couldn't wait to get home to try it as an abstract!

This one was turned continually as I painted and finally to get the orientation of the two pieces but I love it!

Can you see which way to turn it to have it look like the creek, snow, ice and winter bushes?

Plus I'm the proud new owner of a Peggi Kroll Roberts painting!

We also enjoyed talking to Scott Switzer who we knew when he used to show at the Patrons Gallery in Cherry Creek North. He has gone more Abstract! Check them out.

Madeleine O'Connell's work is very strong and highly coloured.

Denver's own Jeannie Paty has some wonderful work in the show too!

Worth taking a look at this show curated by Denver Curator Rose Frederick.
