“Landscape to Abstract”

This is the Series I will hang in A Brush with the Outdoors.

“I started to look around the studio at the hundreds of Plein Air pieces that are finished, many not.

I always saw the "abstract" elements in nature. I picked some pieces that I thought would lend themselves to abstraction. I studied the shapes, colours, compositions, shadow shapes and light shapes. I started thinking about a series of abstracts from landscapes...

...."Landscapes to Abstracts". And I would push them as far as I could to the abstract, perhaps several per subject!”
